Dr. Walker, who is a fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine, and of the Chemical Society, both of London, is joint author of the Rideal-Walker test, which is the method employed by the United States Department of Agriculture for determing the germicidal value of disinfectants. He has appeared as a government expert in prosecutions under the federal act against misbranding government."

infecting powers of proprietary prep-of disinfectants which do not disinfect."

In order to remedy this situation Dr. Walker has prepared a bill to regulate the manufacture and sale of disinfectants and to prevent their adulteration and misbranding. It also aims to regulate the labelling of such preparations and to provide for their standardization. He has obtained the promise of Senator Heffernan to introduce this bill at the next session of the Legislature.

"The measure provides," said Dr. Walker, "that all disinfectants made or sold in this state shall bear a label showing the carbolic acid co-efficient, or relative germicidal value, the bill provides that the Rideal-Walker test shall be made.
